

Enrico Benni

Enrico Benni is a Senior Partner in McKinsey & Company in Abu Dhabi, UAE

Enrico leads the Digital / McKinsey in EEMA region, Co-Leader of McK global ERP and Value Assurance for large IT projects practice and Tech enabled operations

Work experience with McKinsey

Engagement experience include:

- Driving the digital transformation of a leading travel and leisure company in Europe, re-defining the full cross country IT organization, re-designing the target application architecture and infrastructure architecture, re-defining the skills and the sourcing strategy to enable the migration from brick and mortar to digital operator
- Driving the re-configuration of the IT function of a leading Middle East NOC, defining the improvement potential for the IT organization, evaluating the opportunity to spin off the IT function to enable different IT skills to be hired to enable digital transformation
- Driving a multi year transformation of IT of a leading airline carrier in Asia, redesigning and implementing a new business and IT architecture, Multichannel (including full internet presence) solution, IT infrastructure, IT organization, IT sourcing and upskilling of the IT function to support the achievement of the Business vision to be “the best airline” in Asia
- Driving the global ERP implementation of leading Global High Tech company, including transformation of the processes and technology platform definition of target process architecture, technology architecture and support to the program management for the successful execution of the transformation program

- Optimizing the IT function of a leading world wide container shipping, defining the case for change, defining the target people capabilities and staffing levels, planning the long term IT function organization and the flexibility required to scale up and down depending on business context
- Managed the multi year project with business processes and IT systems global integration of leading logistics provider, resulting from a mega merge. Supported the selection of the target platform, definition of the migration strategy and interim procedures including connections to logistics exchanges, assisted the PMO in managing the complete program, across more than 30 countries

Prior to joining McKinsey, Enrico worked as a senior consultant at Andersen Consulting and then as senior manager at PricewaterhouseCoopers, managing large change programs connected to new IT system implementations (custom developments and SAP R/3), mainly for multinational companies, i.e. MRO for airlines, pharma and steel, focusing on operations, manufacturing and supply chain.

Enrico has a degree in Electrical Engineering and Automation, received at the Università degli Studi di Bologna, Italy.

Enrico is fluent in English, French, German and Italian